ACQUISITION MANAGEMENT REVIEW PROCEDURES GUIDE

SECTION 1 – OVERVIEW

1.1 Background
The purpose for conducting an Acquisition Management Review (AMR) is to evaluate the effectiveness and efficiency of the contracting office and provide suggestions to improve any noted weaknesses or deficiencies. The review offers a baseline assessment of current strengths and weaknesses within the office. The expected outcome is to identify areas which require management attention and mitigate risk in those areas; thereby ultimately increasing the effectiveness and efficiency of the Department of Commerce Acquisition process. The AMR is designed to provide local reviews of the DOC contracting offices by a team of contracting professionals from the DOC staff or field Contracting Offices.

The AMR will be used to assist Bureau Procurement Officials and Acquisition Leadership improve the overall efficiency and effectiveness of our procurement organizations in five areas.

- Leadership
- Strategic planning
- Technical compliance and management of key procurement processes
- Customer focus
- Human resource management

The AMR requires DOC procurement organizations to perform continuous self-assessment through procurement performance-based measurements, including the results of employee and customer surveys. The procurement organization is expected to use self-assessment results to continuously evaluate its technical compliance, the quality of its procurement processes and management systems, its ability to know when corrective action is appropriate and to make the necessary improvements. The AMR team members will evaluate the procurement organization's adherence to applicable regulations, statutes, laws, and best acquisition and business practices. The AMR team will give special attention to self-assessment results.

1.2 Purpose
The purposes of the Acquisition Management Reviews (AMR) are to—

a. Assist Contracting officers and supervisors and BPOs with improving the operational efficiency and effectiveness of their organizations;

b. Periodically provide BPOs, Contracting Officers, supervisors and contract specialist with an evaluation of the integrity of the DOC procurement process, the achievement of DOC goals, assessment of the quality of career development within the contracting workforce, and assessment of compliance with statutory requirements by each contracting office and;
c. Provide contracting offices with on-site assistance and training.

1.3 Applicability
This policy applies to all Department of Commerce contracting offices.

1.4 Policy
All DOC contracting offices will receive AMRs, performed by Office of Acquisition Management personnel and supplemented by field Acquisition Offices. Each contracting office will receive at least one review every 36 months. The number and type of observations and findings, especially repeat findings, will play a role in how often a contracting office is reviewed.

1.5 Review Standards
Due to different AMR team composition, different team leaders, different levels of review, and the broad variety of contracting offices to be reviewed, it is desirable to promote uniformity in review coverage, conduct, methods of report writing, and close out. Common review standards will be applied to the areas listed below during all AMRs:

- Scope of review;
- Approaches for preparing and conducting a AMR;
- Standards for writing reports;
- Format for publishing reports;
- Guidance on selecting, training, and supervising team members;
- Process for preparing, coordinating, and distributing reports; and
- Closing out the reports

The AMR Team Leader will prepare milestones to assist with completing the myriad tasks associated with planning, conducting, reporting, and closing multiple AMRs during each fiscal year. The milestones will also serve as a source of information to determine the status of each AMR on the annual schedule.

1.6 Roles and Responsibilities
1.6.1 Senior Procurement Executive (SPE)
The SPE is responsible for the overall AMR process.

1.6.2 Senior Bureau Procurement Official (BPO)
The BPO will be responsible for providing the preliminary documentation and information to the AMR team and respond to the reports generated by the review.
1.6.3 Review Team Leader
The AMR Team Leader is responsible for overall team management, including planning, conducting the review, and preparing, or overseeing preparation of the AMR Report. Specific Team Leader responsibilities include:
   a. Selecting and notifying team members;
   b. Designating team member work assignments (areas to be reviewed);
   c. Identifying, collecting, analyzing, and disseminating to team members the data relative to the Acquisition Office being reviewed;
   d. Making arrangements with the Acquisition Office to be reviewed;
   e. Scheduling unique on-site requirements, such as interviews with leadership and the servicing legal representative, discussions with groups of customers, etc;
   f. Managing/supervising the on-site process;
   g. Participating as a working member of the team in selected areas;
   h. Providing daily status briefings to the BPO, as needed;
   i. Providing an exit briefing to the BPO, or designated representative;
   j. Reviewing/approving written findings of team members and preparing, or overseeing preparation of, the AMR Report;
   k. Maintaining the master file of working papers;
   l. Coordinating the draft report with appropriate staffing officers and obtaining approval of the final report signed by the SPE;
   m. Distributing the AMR Report to the Acquisition Office reviewed;
   n. Responding to questions and concerns raised by the Acquisition Office reviewed as a result of the AMR Report;
   o. Reviewing corrective action(s) proposed and taken by the Acquisition Office reviewed; and
   p. Performing follow-up duties, as necessary, to close out the report.

1.6.4 Review Team Members
The AMR Team Members are responsible for participating in the planning, conducting the review, and preparing their input to the AMR Report. Specific Team Member responsibilities include:
   a. Accepting work assignments (areas to be reviewed);
   b. Analyzing the data relative to the Acquisition Office being reviewed;
   c. Participating, as required, in interviews with leadership and the servicing legal representative, discussions with groups of customers, etc;
   d. Scheduling any additional customer interviews, as needed, to gather additional data for assigned review project.
   e. Managing individual on-site process;
   f. Participating as a working member of the team in selected areas;
   g. Providing daily status briefings to the Team Leader, as needed;
   h. In the case of an observation which has the potential of becoming a finding, if training is deemed needed by the Team Leader, provide on-site assistance and training to the contracting professional responsible for the identified action;
i. Ensure all documentation for findings are complete, to include proofing write-ups and ensuring that notes sufficiently support the findings;
j. Provide an exit briefing to the Team Leader on assigned area(s);
k. Assist in the preparation of the final AMR Report;
l. Assist in preparing responses to questions and concerns raised by the Acquisition Office reviewed as a result of the AMR Report;
m. Assist in the review of corrective action(s) proposed and taken by the Acquisition Office reviewed; and
n. Performing follow-up duties, as necessary, to close out the report.

1.6.5 Host Acquisition Office Responsibilities

a. Provide space, conference room or office for AMR Team to review files and conduct interviews.
b. Phone access, FAX and internet capability.
c. Provide POC for AMR Team members for access to facilities during review.

END OF SECTION 1
SECTION 2 – PREPARING FOR REVIEW

2.1 Introduction
Comprehensive preparation is an indispensable component of a successful AMR. If done properly, AMR planning will reduce the funds, personnel, and time needed on-site to execute the review. The objective of preparation is for the AMR team members to arrive on-site with basic knowledge of the Acquisition Office's mission, organizational structure, workload, and operational practices. The types of data most likely to be requested by the AMR team are readily available in the automated procurement system, FPDS-NG. At a minimum, the following items should be included in the planning and preparation for the upcoming AMR:

a. establishing the review level;
b. notifying the Acquisition Office to be reviewed;
c. obtaining advance data (when necessary);
d. selecting members of the team; and
e. assigning team members' responsibilities.

The length of time required to perform an AMR will depend upon the size of the organization, the size of the review team, and the scope and depth of reviews. The Team Leader, based upon these three factors and experience, determines the actual time allotted to each review element.

A team member's analysis begins before arriving to the on-site location of the review. The member should review advance information and study previous AMR Reports to identify follow-up requirements, especially pertaining to repeat findings.

2.2 Notification to the Acquisition Office
The AMR Team Leader will convene with the BPO of the office being reviewed to determine the best time for the review to be conducted. This coordination generally is done by telephone or email before the on-site review is underway. Such notification should arrive at the Acquisition Office approximately 45 days prior to the beginning of the review. (See Letter of Notification to BPO, Appendix C.)

2.3 Selection of Team Members
The AMR process is a team effort that must be managed by the AMR Team Leader. The AMR Team Leader will determine the composition and size of the AMR team, and the duration of individual team member assignments to the team. There may be times when it is necessary to include a member from the Office of General Counsel on the AMR team. Team members are assigned to the AMR team for the duration of the review unless an earlier release has been agreed to or directed by the AMR Team Leader. The team members are responsible for coordinating their own travel arrangements such as hotel accommodations, rental cars, airline reservations, etc (where required).

END OF SECTION 2
SECTION 3 – CONDUCTING THE REVIEW

3.1 Entrance Briefing
The BPO of the Acquisition Office being reviewed will conduct an entrance brief for the AMR team. The purpose of this briefing is to report self-assessment results; present challenges and efforts to make improvements; and introduce AMR team members to the contracting staff and the supervisor(s). The AMR Team Leader will explain the purpose and scope of the AMR during the in-brief.

3.2 Review Methods
The purpose of the review is to assess the efficiency and effectiveness of the Acquisition Office’s acquisition function. This will be accomplished by reviewing local processes, policies and procedures; studying organizational charts, strategic business plans, management control checklists; analyzing FPDS-NG-generated data; and conducting interviews with appropriate personnel, e.g., contracting staff members, customers, legal and, when needed, finance and accounting.

While adequate samples of contracting procedures, procurement actions and personal interviews should enable each team member to identify significant trends and operational strengths and/or weaknesses within the Acquisition Office’s operations, more targeted file reviews and interviews may be required to determine the significance of the finding.

The AMR Technical Evaluation Checklist, Appendix B, should be used to assist AMR team members with reviewing files and determining whether the Acquisition Office being reviewed is technically compliant and managing key procurement processes. The checklist contains events and procedures in a logical sequence covering the entire acquisition process from acquisition planning and purchase request initiation to contract award, administration and closeout. The checklist promotes consistent analysis and provides systematic means of organizing the file review process. Results of each file review will be recorded in the electronic format prescribed in Appendix D, AMR Evaluation Matrix.

3.2.1 Review of Materials
Material that will generally be available for review include local standard operating procedures, internal forms, contracts, purchase/delivery/task orders, blanket purchase agreements (BPAs), basic ordering agreements (BOAs), files, legal reviews, exceptions to policy under which the organization is operating, employee individual development plans, performance standards, customer survey results, and management information system data, such as workload data. Exercising good judgment in selecting material to be reviewed, the amount of material to be reviewed, and the adequacy of the Acquisition Office’s documentation will largely determine the effectiveness of the team.
3.2.2 Interviews
Interviews with contracting and other personnel should be used to expand upon findings, determine rationale for actions, or pursue leads noted during the review of selected written material. Interviews provide an excellent forum for team members to better understand the Acquisition Office’s management philosophy and its overall approach to acquisition and day-to-day operations at the contracting officer’s level. Interviews also allow AMR team members to discuss deficiencies and present ideas for enhancing local operations. Finally, interviews allow team members to discuss issues deemed “significant findings” to ensure that all facts and rationale for actions are considered before a finding is reported.

3.3 Observations and Findings
It is essential that all AMR team members understand the difference between “Observation” and “Finding.” Many process improvements, inefficient operations, and one-time technical noncompliances will be noted during the review that do not warrant being written up as a finding, yet should be corrected. The AMR team members will treat these occurrences as “Observations.” Generally, they should be documented in the team member’s working file, and noted in the AMR Report.

Findings, on the other hand, are significant or material deficiencies in terms of impact or frequency of occurrence. Particular attention should be paid to “Repeat Findings.” When a trend is noted and the deficiency is sufficient to warrant writing a finding, it should be written and given to the Team Leader along with a copy of the worksheets (i.e., backup materials). The Team Leader or AMR team member will label a one-time, or isolated occurrence, as a finding when necessary. This occurs when the event or observation is so significant that it could have an adverse impact on the overall operation of the Acquisition Office. Examples include exceeding certified funding levels; exceeding the contracting officer’s warrant authority; and failure to follow ratification procedures for an unauthorized commitment. Significant findings identified during the review may be referred to the OIG.

3.4 Assignment of Work
The AMR Team Leader will assign each team member material to be reviewed during the AMR. Accordingly, team members will receive all work assignments and direction from the Team Leader. The Team Leader must approve, prior to pursuit, any activity during the AMR process not directed by the Team Leader. The team member will prepare documentation and findings, if any.

3.5 Examination of Files AMR team members are likely to examine a variety of files during a review. For example, in addition to contract and purchase order files, members will review BPA files, lease agreements, standard operating procedures, Contracting Officer appointment files, internal management control files, as well as an assortment of other administrative files. In all cases, team members must determine whether the processes, procedures, and decisions documented in the files indicate that the Acquisition Office is following sound procurement and business practices and complying with DOC policies, guidance, and procedures.

Normally, files, particularly contract actions to be reviewed, should be limited to those awarded since the last review. Exceptions to this practice will be long-term contracts. Reviewers should have a systematic approach for examining files. A summary of each file reviewed should be logged in the electronic format prescribed in Appendix B (File Review Checklist). This practice will aid the reviewer in determining when sufficient occurrences have been noted to indicate a trend. Every item recorded must be labeled as "Observation" or "Finding," and all "Repeat Findings" should be clearly identified.

All files and contracts reviewed by AMR team members shall be returned promptly to the appropriate place, and they shall be in the same condition they were when provided to the team for review.

3.6 Conducting Interviews

Interviews with key personnel should be part of the on-site review. A combination of reviewing documents and conducting face-to-face discussions will be used to develop the overall appraisal of the quality, effectiveness, and efficiency of the Acquisition Office’s procurement operations. The Team Leader may choose to accompany team members when they conduct face-to-face discussions with senior managers within the Acquisition Office. Sample interview questionnaires are provided as Appendix E.

Interviews can be substantially improved by keeping the following principles in mind:

a. Be clear, concise, courteous, constructive, and professional throughout the interview.

b. Begin the session by setting the stage. As a minimum, the following topics should be discussed at the beginning of the session.

i. Clearly explain the purpose of the AMR

ii. Confidentiality of information

iii. Additional information that would help the AMR effort.

c. Avoid asking leading questions and those that can be answered with a simple “yes” or “no.”

d. Keep the interview on track, moving toward accomplishing the defined objective.

e. Allow flexibility to enable the individual being interviewed to provide additional leads and/or identify other deficiencies.

f. End the interview with a restatement of facts presented and any conclusions that you have drawn from them.

3.7 Assistance and Training

Occasionally, the Team Leader may determine that it is necessary to address in the AMR Report those observations that have the potential of becoming findings. The AMR team member noting such observation, or the Team Leader, should provide on-site assistance and training to the contracting professional responsible for the action.

3.8 Documenting Findings
Team members are expected to take extensive and thorough notes on material reviewed and during the personnel interviews. This includes documentation of contract files reviewed, on-site observations, findings, and preliminary recommendations. Should the Team Leader determine the documentation provided by the team member is insufficient, the paperwork will be returned for completion. All findings will be recorded in the electronic format prescribed in Appendix D (AMR Evaluation Matrix).

Reviewers should prepare findings as soon as a significant deficiency or undesirable trend is noted and confirmed through an interview with the personnel or file review. Each finding will consist of three parts:

a. Succinct statement of the finding (i.e., problem or deficiency);

b. Extent of the problem and all the pertinent details and circumstances regarding the observation; and

c. Recommendation.

The finding should be tied to a regulation, statute or policy whenever applicable. Repeat findings from the last AMR should be clearly noted. The recommendation should tell the BPO what actions should be taken to correct the deficiency. Reviewers should proof their write-ups and ensure that their notes sufficiently support the findings.

3.9 Exit Brief
Team members are responsible for providing input for the exit brief. A copy of preliminary findings will be provided to the BPO that time.

END OF SECTION 3
SECTION 4 – PREPARING AND ISSUING THE REPORT

4.1 Introduction
The Team Leader, or designee, is responsible for development and content of the AMR Report. A report will be published within 30 calendar days after completion of the on-site review. The report will convey findings and recommendations to the BPO which, in the cumulative, provide an overall assessment of the Acquisition Office's standing. The assessment will cover the following areas: leadership, strategic planning, technical compliance and management of key procurement processes, customer focus, and human resource management. The AMR Report will not address small or inconsequential problems, but only the more significant findings.

The AMR Team Leader is responsible for preparing the report or overseeing its preparation. Each team member is responsible for documenting and reporting results of the area(s) reviewed. The member should pay particular attention to thoroughly documenting results. For example, all observations and findings should reference contract/order number, delivery/period of performance, amount, purchase description, and regulation paragraph numbers. Recommendations should be addressed in the documentation.

As mentioned earlier, many observations noted during a review will be corrected through AMR team assistance on-site during the review. These observations will be included in the final report with a notation that corrective action has been implemented. Therefore, the Team Leader shall ensure that reports do not address isolated or relatively inconsequential problems. AMR Reports will cover significant findings, and will require BPOs to respond to each finding with a proposed plan designed to correct administrative and operational problems and improve business practices. The primary emphasis will be on enhancing mission performance Agency-wide, as well as at individual activities, through encouragement of, and assistance in, rectifying noted deficiencies. Further, the Team Leader will make certain that the positive practices adopted by the office being reviewed are mentioned in the report as well as the findings.

The AMR Team Leader is responsible for milestone management of all aspects of the AMR process, including issuing the report and responding to questions and concerns that arise as a result of the report. The Team Leader should provide team members with an opportunity to review and comment on the draft AMR Report.

4.2 Report Format
Appendix F, Sample AMR Report Format, serves as an outline for writing the report, and provides a basis for maintaining uniformity and consistency among reviews of various activities. Recognizing that each Acquisition Office varies as to mission, organization, and methods of contracting, the format should not be construed as mandating an inflexible style in which the reports will be written.
4.3 Report Distribution
The AMR Team Leader is responsible for ensuring that the AMR Report is released within 30 calendar days after completion of the on-site review. Issuing the report in a timely fashion enables the Acquisition Office to initiate needed corrective action promptly. Further, the specific details associated with the findings are still fresh which facilitates resolution of any disagreements between the AMR team and the reviewed Acquisition Office that were not resolved while the AMR team was on-site.

Each report will be issued to the BPO of the Acquisition Office. A sample letter for transmitting the report is provided as Appendix G. The Director of RMD will provide copies to officials who need to know the results of the review, e.g., SPE, internal review, legal, Bureau management.

The Director of OAM or the Director of OAM Risk Management, after consultation with the Team Leader, are the only individuals authorized to extend the release date. If an extension is granted, the Team Leader will provide the reviewed Acquisition Office with a revised release date.

4.4 Report Closeout
The AMR Team Leader is responsible for ensuring that each AMR report is closed timely. The goal is to approve each corrective action plan for closing findings within 60 calendar days after each report is issued. However, this necessitates general agreement with all findings and recommendations for improvement by the reviewed Acquisition Office's managers. Frequently this will not occur and adjustments of the acceptance date on the milestones will have to be made. Each AMR report will be closed immediately after all findings have been corrected.

END OF SECTION 4
SECTION 5 – CORRECTIVE ACTION PLANS

5.1 Corrective Action Plans
Each AMR report will be issued with suspense for the reviewed Acquisition Office to respond to each finding and recommendation (See Appendix G, Sample Report Transmitting Letter). Before the report is closed, the AMR Team Leader will coordinate with DOC's, Risk Management Division Director and the BPO to facilitate follow-up action.

5.1.1 Response Format
Within 60 calendar days from receipt of the AMR Report, the reviewed Acquisition Office is required to respond to each AMR finding by concurring or nonconcurring with the finding and recommendation. They are also required to discuss specific action to be taken and the proposed completion date for each finding to be corrected. Any non-concurrence must be fully justified.

Responses will be prepared in the format shown at the end of Appendix F, Sample AMR Report (includes Response Format). The AMR Team Leader must ensure that every finding and recommendation is addressed adequately before the report is closed. Moreover, the Team Leader must accept the rational for non-concurrence or resolve unacceptable issues.

5.2 Extension Requests
The BPO of the Acquisition Office reviewed may find it necessary to request an extension to the 60 calendar days for responses to the AMR reports. All requests for extensions of suspense should be routed to the Team Leader for action. Reasonable requests for extensions may be granted by the AMR Team Leader.

Tax Delinquency Certification Questions

1. Are your contracting officers reviewing ORCA Reps and Certs regarding tax delinquencies?

2. Have any of your contracting officers identified any offerors with a self-identified tax delinquency and, if so, did the offeror receive an award?

3. Are your contracting officers using any reported delinquencies in their responsibility determinations or taking any other steps to recoup the delinquency under the contract?

4. Referred to Suspension Debarment Official (SDO)

FPDS Data accuracy

Is a copy of FPDS Report included in the contract file? Is it approved by the contracting Officer and validated against the contract file?

Reporting to PPIRS

Is copy of Past Performance Information Retrieval System (PPIRS) report in the contract file?

Per DOC procurement memorandum 2009-05 this guidance applies to all awards made against requisitions or other interagency transfer agreements received from DoD components that result in new contracts, purchase orders, delivery orders, task orders or call orders awarded on or after October 1, 2008.
Any DOC acquisition office executing any acquisition on behalf of DoD shall review the Interagency Agreement (IAA) to determine whether that IAA includes any DoD specific regulatory requirements applicable to the acquisition. If so Contracting Officer is responsible for ensuring that those requirements are compiled in their totality.

| 1   | Market Research
Information and documentation pertaining to the market research that was conducted for the acquisition in question should be filed under this Tab. The intent of the market research is to determine if commercial item/services or non-developmental items are available to meet the Government’s needs or could be modified to meet the Government’s needs, which then permits utilization of the policies and procedures in FAR Part 12. If market research establishes that the Government’s needs cannot be met by a type of item or service customarily available in the commercial marketplace, then do not use Part 12. The extent of market research will vary depending on such factors as urgency, estimated dollar value, complexity and past experience.

NOTE: Justifications for Other Than Full and Open Competition (JOFOC) require a description of the market research conducted (see FAR Part 10) and the results or a statement of the reason you did not perform market research. |

14 Unsuccessful Bids or Proposals

Retain copies of unsuccessful bids or proposals. Make them part of the official contract file.

At a minimum, maintain the following:

- Completed solicitation Sections A, B, and K (Uniform Contract Format); or SF 1449, Addendum B, and FAR Clause 52.212-3 (Offeror Representations and Certifications—Commercial Items) when acquiring commercial items/services

- Technical and management proposals

- Cost or price proposals

- Any other page(s) of the solicitation that the offeror(s) altered or annotated

15 Successful Bid or Proposal

Retain a complete copy of the successful bid (including any and all modification(s) made thereto) or proposal (including any and all modification(s) made thereto).

As appropriate, file the following under this tab:

- Bid Guarantees

- Performance and Payment Bonds (received by the Government subsequent to award, but prior to performance of work under the contract)

- Evidence of insurance coverage (received by the Government subsequent to award, but prior to performance of work under the contract)

APPENDIX C – SAMPLE NOTIFICATION LETTER
MEMORANDUM FOR: XXXXXXXXXXX

FROM: Helen Hurcombe
Senior Procurement Executive and Director for Acquisition Management

SUBJECT: Office of Acquisition Management Acquisition Assessment

Office of Acquisition Management (OAM), Risk Management Division (RM) will lead the Acquisition Management Review (AMR) of each Bureau. The purposes of the review are to (1) assist BPOs with improving the operational efficiency and effectiveness of their organizations; (2) periodically provide an evaluation of the integrity of the procurement process, the achievement of Agency goals, assessment of the quality of career development within the contracting workforce, and assessment of compliance with statutory requirements by each contracting office; and (3) provide contracting offices with on-site assistance and training. RM will use random sampling of contracts which may include but is not limited to the following: Simplified Acquisition Procedures (SAP); General Services Administration (GSA); Indefinite Delivery/Indefinite Quantity (IDIQ); and Government Purchase Card (GPC) transactions.

If you have any questions, please contact Milt Dillard at (202) 482-3297.
