

Barry E. Berkowitz
Senior Procurement Executive and Director, Office of Acquisition Management
U.S. Department of Commerce

Barry came to the Department of Commerce with over 35 years of operational, engineering, acquisition program management, and executive experience. He spent 13 years in private industry in a variety of senior and executive positions and companies after retiring from the United States Air Force. Prior to serving in the Department of Commerce, Barry's civilian federal service includes the Director of the Office of Cost Analysis for the Department of Energy, the Chief of the Congressional, Budget and Program Integration Division for the Air Force Acquisition Capability Directorate for Information Dominance and a senior Operations Research Analyst, Cost Analysis Improvement Group (CAIG), Office of the Secretary of Defense.