SUBJECT: Procedures on Notifying Management Officials of Individuals Who Fail to Safeguard Sensitive Personally Identifiable Information (PII)

This memorandum notifies you to institute coordinated procedures within your respective bureaus to remind managers/supervisors of their responsibilities in addressing situations in which employees and contractors fail to safeguard PII. Your procedures must be consistent with the Department of Commerce PII, BII, and PA Breach Response and Notification Plan, Version 2.0 (July 2013).

On May 22, 2007, the Office of Management and Budget issued a Memorandum for the Heads of Executive Departments and Agencies, “Safeguarding Against and Responding to the Breach of Personally Identifiable Information.” The memorandum informed Heads of Departments and Agencies of the urgent need to deal with situations in which individuals demonstrated “egregious disregard or a pattern of error in safeguarding personally identifiable information.” A breach of personally identifiable information (PII) incident is considered a violation of a Department of Commerce (Department) security regulation. Managers and supervisors must take appropriate measures to hold Federal employees accountable, and to provide a framework for constructive corrective actions that violate Department security regulations.

For Federal employees, first-line supervisors have the responsibility to determine the appropriate performance or disciplinary action for subordinates who create PII breaches. Disciplinary actions can be guided, in part, by the table of penalties in Department Administrative Order (DAO) 202-751, “Discipline” after consulting with the servicing Employee Relations Specialist and the Office of the General Counsel. For contractors, Contracting Officers (COs) have the responsibility to take appropriate action.
SUBJECT: Procedures on Notifying Management Officials of Individuals Who Fail to Safeguard Sensitive Personally Identifiable Information (PII)

Bureau/Operating Unit Privacy Officers (BPOs) have the responsibility of notifying the employee or contractor, along with his/her supervisory chain of command, or Contracting Officer Representative (COR), as appropriate, when the same individual continues to breach PII.

In order to ensure managers and supervisors are made aware of a PII breach in a timely manner, the following notification procedures are to be used by all BPOs:

For any occurrence of a PII breach, a BPO must notify the employee/contractor involved and an appropriate supervisor or COR in a manner in which they deem appropriate.

In order to ensure all information is provided to a supervisor, the BPO should use the attached templates as a guide to notifying the first- and/or second-line supervisor of a Federal employee, or the COR of a contractor. The BPO shall determine if the PII breach warrants further notifications, and the employee’s or contractor’s supervisor will determine appropriate action.

Notifications of PII breaches by Federal employees will be escalated by the BPO whenever necessary to ensure that senior management is aware of the situation and the first-line supervisor has implemented appropriate corrective/remedial actions. Such notification may also include a recommendation for prompt removal of the employee’s authority to access information and systems that is or contains sensitive PII. Notifications regarding PII breaches by contractors are to be escalated to the CO or higher, to ensure appropriate action is taken.

Please ensure appropriate attention to, and priority of, compliance with these procedures in your Bureau/Operating Unit. Questions about this memorandum should be directed to the Commerce Privacy Program Coordinator, Ms. Lisa Martin. She can be reached at (202) 482-2459 and L.Martin1@doc.gov.
