Introduction: System Description

The NWS Central Region (CR) Wide Area Network (WAN)/Local Area Network (LAN) databases, located in Kansas City, Missouri, consist of basic identifying information about employees and volunteers who are part of the regional workforce. The databases are maintained as a supplement to other employee records for purposes of developing statistical reports, and performing other related administrative tasks. In addition, Weather Forecast Office (WFO)/River Forecast Centers (RFC) maintain local databases that contain information on volunteers who provide weather reports to them. The Warning Decision Training Division and NWS Training Center (originally in NOAA8900, which has been decommissioned) have been integrated into NOAA8881, but neither of them collects nor stores PII or BII.

Although there are a variety of hardware and operating systems, all the activities are interconnected. The system provides direct or indirect mission support for the NWS as a Government agency. Mission Support infrastructure encompasses Wide Area Networks (WAN), Local Area Networks (LAN), host computer systems and client-server systems. The system supports a variety of users, functions, and applications, including word processing, budget and requisition information, spreadsheets, presentation graphics, database development and management, electronic mail, image processing, electronic commerce, project management, training (see above, no PII involved), research and development, and collaboration.

PII is collected and stored for employees, as well as for weather volunteers (members of the public). The PII/BII in this system is not shared.

The legal authorities for information collection addressed in this PIA are:

- 5 U.S.C. § 301 authorizes the operations of an executive agency, including the creation, custodianship, maintenance and distribution of records.
- 44 U.S.C. 3101 addresses records management by Department agency heads.
- 15 U.S.C. § 1512 is an Organic Law which confers general powers and duties authority to executive agencies, vesting jurisdiction and control of departments, bureaus, offices and branches.

This is a moderate level system.

The NWS CR WAN/LAN system maintains information concerning each member of the CR workforce (employees). This information is managed by the NWS Central Region Headquarters (CRH) Administration Personnel. Only the Workforce Manager and the CRH Information Technology (IT) Database Administrator have access to these workforce databases.

The administrative information maintained on these databases consists of:

- Name /Position /GS Level/Series/Service Computation Date/Date of Grade/ Date of separation
- Residential information (Address, phone numbers)
- Government email addresses
- Division/Organization Name
- Regional Office Location
- Optional text field with current/relevant personnel issues, for which inclusion of PII is prohibited.

The information is maintained as a supplement to other employee records for purposes of tracking job vacancies, developing statistical reports, and performing other related administrative tasks

There are also local databases at the local WFO/RFC that maintain information on volunteers (members of the public) who provide them weather reports. The database holds the following information on these volunteers:

- First and last name
- Mailing address
- County
- Phone (home/cell)
- Email address
- Hours to be contacted for severe weather reports
- Possession of a rain gauge, anemometer, thermometer, snow stick, or weather station
- Brief description of location of spotter's personal residence
- Last time attended spotter class
- Community Weather Involvement Program Identification – (optional) not all offices use this. It's a locally assigned number from the field office.
- Latitude / Longitude

All of this information collected on volunteers is provided voluntarily and most people who sign up do so during a community outreach training program, known as "spotter talks." Spotter talks help the public prepare for the severe weather season. A locally-assigned staff is responsible for the maintenance of this database, with occasional help from 1 to 2 other staff members for data entry. This database information is accessible for viewing by all staff members in order to make calls for severe weather information.
